General Comments or Valuable Insight

I puked my original Wheat Longs @ 4.796. I was in and out today. I'm in full buy the break mode in the grains against today's lows.

There were a lot of big buy programs going through the Equity market, as London was selling going in to their last 45 minutes.

Another day/pretty much the same trade.

The reversal of fortunes goes on with directional flows changing after the big time frame flows abate.

London Closes, then the U.S takes over after lunch.

I talked about the brewers last week looking to buy 10% breaks in BUD. I was involved with other markets and missed it for myself.

I love this group!

The indices are going nowhere fast. My view is they gravitate back into the chop.

The opportunities are going to be in individual names.

Full Moon Saturday. As if things weren't stupid enough.
