

Daily Market Intelligence

Stocks

Russell 2000...

IJT...iShares Small Cap Growth

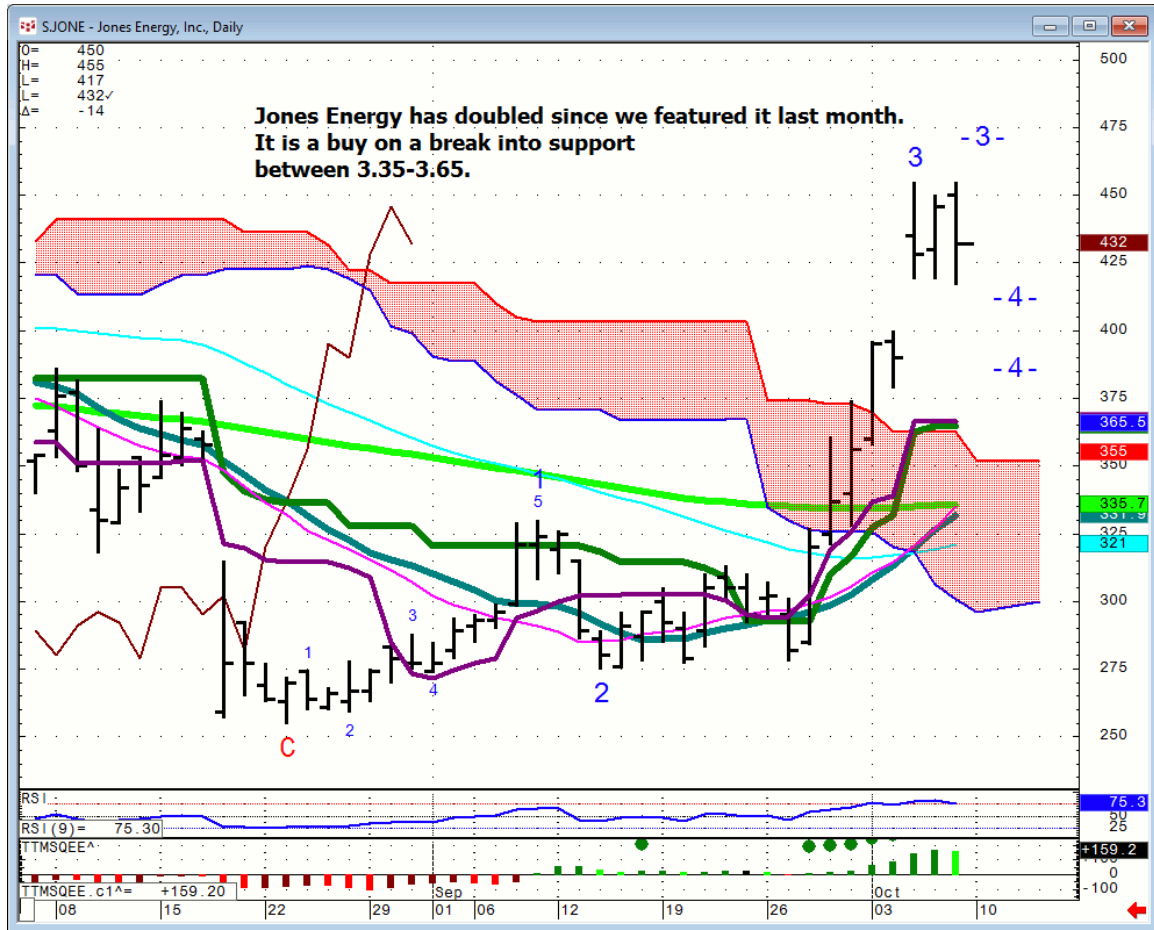

AMZN...

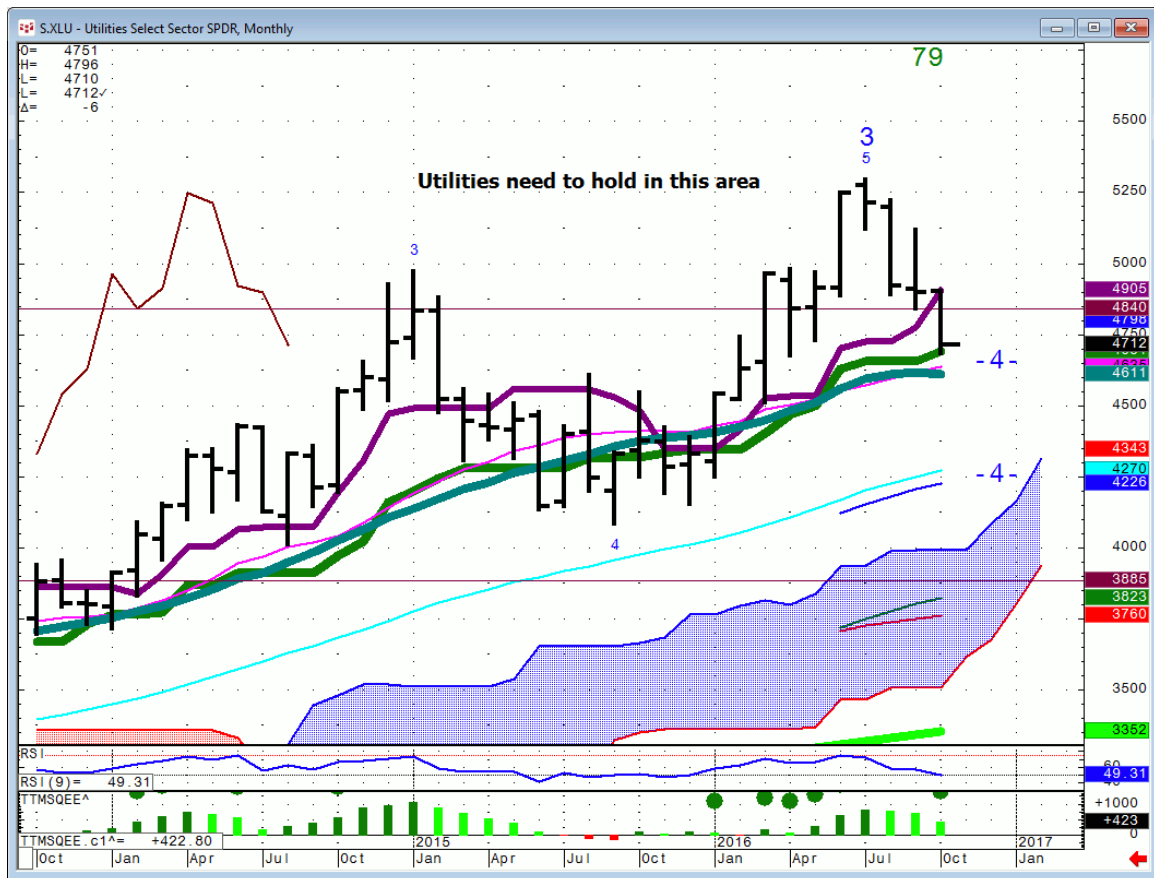

CAT... Caterpillar is a name to watch as it has put in a topping pattern. Much below 88, this will have a good correction.

Jone...Jones Energy Inc.

XLU...I'm interested in the Utilities to see if we get any profit taking in the broader indices going into the election that would put a defensive bid to the Utilities.

Bonds

30 Yr. Futures.. 166.02 is the 200 DMA right in the center. Sustained price action above will lead to an attempt back into the mid 167's.

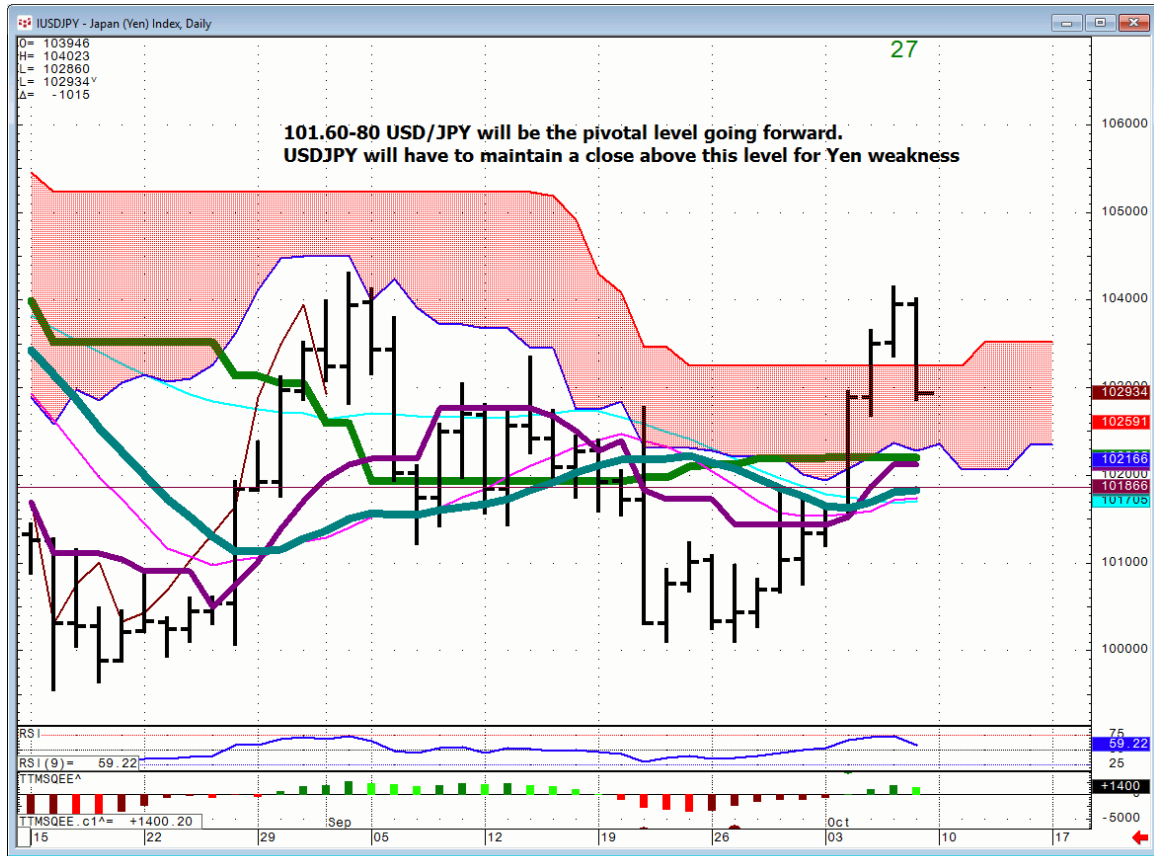

FX

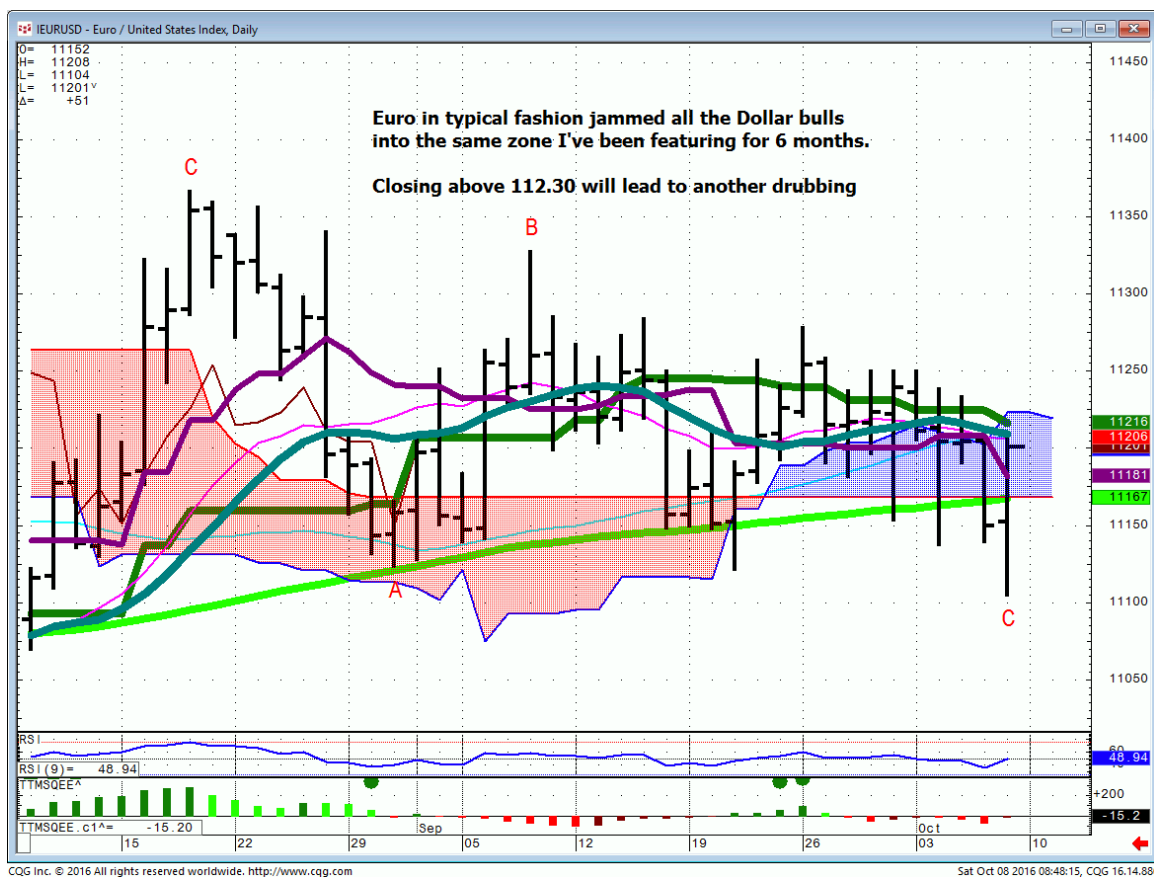

GBP/USD... Sterling is so far away from either support or Definable macro resistance that it will now become a short-term price action trade.

USD/JPY...

Euro...

Commodities

Crude...I've highlighted 2 levels which can reject. I'd like to wait for a selloff of a couple of dollars before getting bulled up again.

General Comments or Valuable Insight

The Bulls are still in control of the Indices as evidenced by the Algos trying to paint a bearish picture in the thinnest trading of the day these past few Friday's.

Algos are agnostic; they go home flat with no positions resulting in a two-way rinse of day traders.

They flip the switch in the A.M. and turn the power off on Friday's close.

Financials will remain a game of follow the Treasury futures.

Pay attention to the individual names you're involved with.

The indices could continue in a sideways chop unless AMZN provides some profit taking impetus.
