General Comments or Valuable Insight

I'm putting in the Peso again so you can see what it's done in relation to tracking a Risk On Board.

The Peso has a positive daily pattern, which are coming into their 50 DMA's.

Since the daily usually honors a mvg. Avg. of that length the first time in, I remain a cautious Bull looking for some back and fill before going higher.

I'm looking for that same type of corrective trade tomorrow in the Indices.

The 30 yr. acts terrible on the semi-annual chart. The short-term mvg averages present an opportunity to look for another rally to sell.

As I stated this A.M., every time I chase strength on a Wednesday on a new high close I usually get screwed in the morning.

I'd rather wait out the time frame and let the market tell me what to do.

Such is the nature of the mid-week shuffle
