General Comments or Valuable Insight

You've heard it before, I'm not handicapping tomorrow's race.

Bonds will run the show early.

Bonds up = a currency rally and a pop in gold.

The expectation is for another blowout #.

I don't think you'll miss much by waiting until NYSE opens to give the market time to digest the data.

Euro has been sitting at the bottom of value on the Point & Figure for a week. Resistance is 107.00. Support is 106.25.

It needs to sustain above or below the above levels to turn the P&F chart.

The stock rotation is prolific. If you're trading a particular name, trade its own technical's.

I'm neutral the Equity market.
