General Comments or Valuable Insight

Nasd/Bonds need only start up tomorrow to break above recent Mvg. Avg. resistance.

HealthCare was the hot sector today.

Pattern alerts in CELG, XLV & JNJ were given to Room members late day.

Right now I'd say it's going to be one of those Wednesday rallies where the Indices close on their highs.

If that plays out you should either sell calls against any longs or take the money late day.

Furthermore, I'm in buy attractive name mode.
I stated this in the room and I'll restate it here.

It is my belief that the Black Friday (Full Moon) low was it for an interim rally.

I butchered my USO call trade today losing (-200).
What's worse is that I'm sure it will work for big money.

Keep Brazil on your radar for tomorrow.
Brazil broke back above its 50 & 200 DMA cross.

An Oil hold after inventories will see this go bid.

In the so-called emerging markets I would focus on Singapore (EWS), India (PIN) and Brazil (EWZ).

Judd's room is open.
Invites are sent before NYSE Opens.

Please check your spam folder or your Google calendar if you don't see an invite.

Not there? Just let me know in the A.M. to get one when the room opens.

We begin answering questions around 8:20 CDT.

I will review any instrument available on my platform and tell you what if anything I see

These are simple moving averages. When you roll a chart to weekly or monthly the averages are simple weekly or monthly mvg averages.

The reddish purple is an embedded Imoku line which acts as momentum.

The leaf green is an embedded Imoku line which calculates 50% retraces.

Brown line is where the Macd with histogram crosses. The line shows the visual on every time frame so you don't have to guess looking at the price of the cross in a line study.
